

Kosuke Iwasaki

Principal of healthcare division, Milliman Japan

After working for Nippon life, Mr. Iwasaki joined Milliman's Tokyo office in 1999 and moved to New York in 2000. As a consulting actuary in healthcare and life insurance, he has contributed to or managed projects with life/health insurance companies, pharmaceutical companies, medical device companies, disease management companies, managed care organizations, and research institutes. He is currently engaged in HTA, economical outcome analysis, healthcare policy reform, support for healthcare business development as a principal of healthcare division, Milliman Tokyo office.

He holds BS in Mathematics from the University of Tokyo, and earned MBA from Columbia University.

Fellow of Institute of Actuaries of Japan, Member of American Academy of Actuaries Education